

The Clark County School District is cancelling all school and after-school activities, including athletics and Safekey, tomorrow, February 22, 2019

LAS VEGAS - The Clark County School District is cancelling all school and after-school activities, including athletics and Safekey, tomorrow, February 22, 2019 due to reports of potential freezing conditions on the roads that would be unsafe for school buses during the morning commute.

All students are excused from school tomorrow. The school day will need to be made up this school year.

See below for information for CCSD employees:

All CCSD teachers will be excused because they will need to make up the day with students at a later date. All nine-month support professionals, and support professionals on the 11-month Track S2, 11-month Track S5, 11-month Track E6, and 10-month Track S1 (School Aides) will also make up the day on a future date.

CCSD administrators and all other support professionals are expected to report to work tomorrow, February 22, when they feel it is safe to do so. The National Weather Service has estimated that the roads will be free of ice by mid-morning tomorrow. These employees may work with their supervisors to adjust their full work schedule to begin and end later in the day or utilize accrued leave. Should employees elect to take leave, it will be approved for any requested portion of the workday.

School Police are considered emergency employees and will work their regular shifts tonight and tomorrow.

Non-emergency employees who work the night shift today, Thursday, February 21, should end their shift at 6 pm and work their regular shift tomorrow.
