

Title I HOMELESS OUTREACH PROGRAM FOR EDUCATION

A Place Called HOPE

Over 1,000 Clark County School District high school students have been identified this year as homeless. In spite of great difficulty and economic pressure, these students are enrolled in high school and have graduation and a better life as their goal. To help them achieve this goal, Title I HOPE has opened A Place Called HOPE. This high school center provides both academic and personal counseling for these most at risk students. To provide the services these students require, A Place Called HOPE needs your help.
