Empowerment schools are given greater autonomy regarding budget use, staffing, instruction, time and decision making, with the expectation that they will:

- Make annual progress with student achievement and the school environment.
- Demonstrate fiscal efficiency and effectiveness.
- Comply with all polices and regulations.

With the new additions, 28 schools will participate in the empowerment school program in 2010-2011. For details on Empowerment Schools, visit www.ccsd.net.
